

Autism Resources

The following list of resources can help with your diagnosis of autism. Some of the information may be appropriate for your current needs and can help with different aspects of the being on the spectrum.

WEBSITES

General

- The National Autistic Society (NAS)
<https://www.autism.org.uk/advice-and-guidance>
Website includes lots of personal experiences and stories of living with ASC.
Includes sections on:
  - What is Autism?
  - Benefits and money
  - Behaviour
  - Socialising and relationships
  - Education
  - Employment
  - Transition
  - LeisureThere is also an online forum/community: <https://www.autism.org.uk/what-we-do/community>
- Different Minds. One Scotland. <https://differentminds.scot> is a new website launched by the Scottish Government which discusses facts and fiction about autistic spectrum conditions and shares stories of people's experiences and can also guide you to information about organisations which offer support.
- The Spectrum (digital magazine by NAS)
<https://www.autism.org.uk/advice-and-guidance/the-spectrum>
This magazine can be downloaded as a PDF (previous issues also available under 'previous editions'). There is an option for subscription to the hard copy/paper format, however this incurs a cost (Standard rate £16 per 4 issues).
- Life on the Spectrum
<http://www.lifeonthespectrum.net/>
Offers support for adults with ASC, especially those who get their diagnosis in adulthood. Includes a blog on various topics, as well as people's own stories.
- Autistic Not Weird is the website of Chris Bonello <http://autisticnotweird.com/>. He is autistic and a former teacher who now writes and speaks at events across the world improving understanding about autism and striving to improve the experience of autistic people everywhere.
- Chris also regularly posts on his Facebook page: <https://facebook.com/autisticnotweird/>
YouTube channel with a range of videos: <https://www.youtube.com/c/AutisticNotWeird>

Social Skills

NAS Online Social Groups

- Under 26s

<https://www.autism.org.uk/what-we-do/scotland/online-social-groups-under-26>

Offers groups that get together regularly and provide members with opportunities to meet new people and have new experiences. The sessions are facilitated by staff and a team of volunteers, with members deciding where they want to visit and what activities they want to try.

- Over 26s – Person to Person

- <https://www.autism.org.uk/what-we-do/scotland/person-to-person>

The online programme is varied, diverse and you do not need to join all groups. It allows autistic adults to meet, chat with peers and helps attendees to reduce their social isolation and build their social, communication and life skills.

Joining an online group can help with:

- Confidence building
- Turn taking
- Energy accounting
- Socialising with new people
- Developing new interests

Money Management

- National Autistic Society – Managing Money

<https://www.autism.org.uk/advice-and-guidance/topics/benefits-and-money/personal-finance/managing-money>

- <https://www.autism.org.uk/what-we-do/professional-development/training-and-conferences/online/managing-money> including:

- A password-creating exercise
- Animations and information around safely using an ATM
- Information on debt management and recovery
- Information on reasonable expenditure
- Information on budgeting
- Printable information sheets and worksheets to help manage budgets

Sensory Processing

- SPD Life

<http://www.spdlife.org/>

A website about Sensory Processing Disorder in adulthood, including resources and forums

Includes:

- 5 Steps for Dealing with SPD as an Adult (<http://www.spdlife.org/articles/dealingwithspd.html>)
- Meltdown toolkit (things you can do when experiencing a meltdown: <http://www.spdlife.org/articles/meltdowntoolkit.html>)

Newly Diagnosed

- Autistic Not Weird – ‘I just found out I’m Autistic. What do I do now?’
<https://autisticnotweird.com/just-found-out/>
This article is a good starting point; however Autistic Not weird is full of interesting articles on a variety of topics, and is worth providing for the individual to explore themselves, picking out their own areas of interest.
- Late Diagnosis Group – Autism Initiatives
<https://www.autisminitiatives.org/differentminds>
Use this link to sign up to a peer led post-diagnostic group which will link you with other people who have recently been diagnosed, present useful information and allow time to discuss your experiences with each other. These sessions are currently being run online.

Employment

- National Autistic Society
- Finding work:
<https://www.autism.org.uk/advice-and-guidance/topics/employment/seeking-work>
